

Combined and Uneven Development - Mapping Labour and Labouring Conditions

By Shomit Sirohi

I. Uneven Development across the World

The uneven development from India to the world is then in the context of national protest in India, developing into a number of general strikes fused with the party, because of its unique line practice of permanent revolution - which is a fact because the mode of production is divided into c.m.p and mass line which then hits the Arab uneven development by line application by the CIA, which then hits the European uneven development and Latin American continent, by way of a specific technique called organizing principle attack which then is a vertical praxis by Indian led mass line.

II. Organising Principle and Intifada

When an unevenly developed Arab continent is mapped it has earlier a feudalist structure which recently has received a number of revolutions, which then fuses the contradiction in each country by mass line which includes tip-offs by the CIA which is usually "I appeal to you, free the women", which then splits the masses in the Arab constellation of uneven developed landed aristocratic trade in labour to its feminist forcing, which then develops in different parts of the Arab world and meets the American liberal governments and participates in a equal free life.

III. Europe and Unevenness

Europe is a world of unevenness in its countrysides but also in its cities, all of which is a scarce development of monetary culture which then leads to developing totalisations of its myriad configurations of modes of production and ruling classes as a cross-section of its crystal-shard complexity of a totality, which then is practical individuals and classes all being local ruling classes, which then receives an organizer who is attacked and frees up the oppressed who then fuse under the praxis for a large protest or set off general strike without party.
